MEMORANDUM FOR: Richard M. Bissell, Jr.

I have reviewed the paper prepared by Jim Reber and have reread my memorandum of 17 July 1956. I have also had an opportunity to spend a little time with Din on the subject of the substance of your briefing presentation. It is Din's opinion, and I am inclined to agree, that a presentation should include the obvious things and should make no attempt at subtlety. In the light of the review mentioned and the discussion with Din, I can only suggest that Jim's paper forms an excellent nucleus if not the entire substance of your presentation. At the most I would suggest the use of Attachment A instead of the first two paragraphs in that paper. I might also suggest the use of Attachment B at the end of the paper.

I assume that you propose to discuss the probability of Russian interception and in this way bring in the question of detection and RAINBOW. I hope I have been of some help.
